Small business owner for 30 years, community volunteer, sustainability and consumer advocate
I stand for sustainable financial and asset management with strong community engagement to redress the situation that we currently face in Nedlands.

I am a semi-retired strategic planning consultant who has lived in Hollywood Ward since 2012. With a passion for community participation, I have been a Chair or member of community or government boards for over thirty years including rescuing several organisations in crisis. Recognising my expertise and qualifications, I am a Fellow of the Australian Institute of Company Directors.

As a researcher on business and community partnerships as well as more recent qualifications in sustainability, I will bring my fresh approach, expertise and qualifications to the Nedlands Council team to help build a sustainable future for our City.

At this time of change to the culture and age demographic in Nedlands, if elected, I intend to:

Listen to the business and local community and include this knowledge in shaping decision making

Actively review and prioritise spending to ensure that resources go to where they are critically needed at this time of financial challenges.

Drive policies that protect urban canopies to help cool our environment and to help preserve biodiversity as well as the liveability of our City.

Support and strengthen community groups and local resources including for sports, arts and culture, the environment, young people and seniors. With decreasing volunteerism in our society I am keen to work on ways to redress this in our community.

I am local, reliable and dependable; I am excited to put my hand up to be part of the Council team and work together with you to achieve a sustainable future.
