

Additional Information

As a 60 year resident of the City of Nedlands I am passionate about the many social and environmental benefits of our suburb and the amazing community I have grown up in.

I went to school and University here.

I have celebrated my family connection to this place and I love the vibe of our ever evolving suburb.

Sadly however we have all watched the character, culture and sense of community of Nedlands disappear over the years.

Our leafy green suburb has been subjected to drastic changes-some community amenities lost forever,others so poorly maintained to the point of closure,densification without consideration of character ,community services close or leave the area and a decline in community connections.

Urban infill is a reality.

An evolution of our resident community is welcomed.

Indeed both should be celebrated as part of a well planned, character considerate and structured approach to sustainable urban development.

With the impending sale of the Irwin Barracks site -estimated to bring thousands of new dwellings to the city-it is time for Nedlands to re-evaluate its amenities and infrastructure planning,and reframe its relationship with its most important stakeholders-the ratepayers.

I believe council must work cohesively and collaboratively with all parties, but particularly its own administration without unnecessary conflict, to bring back the Nedlands so many of us were lucky enough to know and love.

There is a significant need for change, requiring council to work coherently with City administration to assure ratepayers they are receiving value for their hard earned dollars

Transparency and accountability shouldn't be added extras.

I stand for fairness,equity,openness and transparency, and the right of every Nedlands ratepayer to celebrate the amenity of living in one of Perth's most prestigious suburbs.

I encourage you to support me to bring common sense and community back to Nedlands.
