Mayor's Message

Dear Residents,

This month I attended the World Cities Summit in Singapore where I met Mayors from ninety countries who shared ideas and knowledge around the theme of 'Liveable and Sustainable Cities'. During the Summit, I was humbled to learn that we are not the only city going through challenges.

I was inspired to meet the Mayor of Cape Town, Mr Geordin Hill-Lewis, who shared with me about the actions taken in his city following the drought of 2015-2020. I am on a mission to address our water scarcity issue and consider this to be an urgent concern for our community. It was heartening to hear from other world leaders about how their trees are protected on private property and I will continue to fight for these protections in the City of Nedlands. Despite the setbacks we have faced, I believe there is still so much possibility for our City and if we stay on-mission we will see vast improvements in all areas.

Moving forward, we are one hundred per cent focused on cleaning up the current fiscal challenge and have a budget fast approaching. With the welcome of CEO Keri Shannon to the City, I am confident that we can work together to continue to fix the issues the City of Nedlands has faced and believe adversity creates opportunity.

Yours faithfully

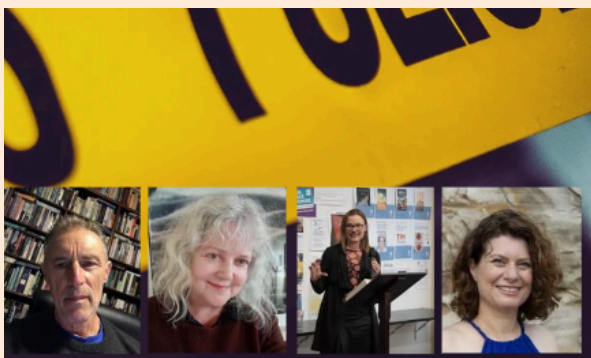

Fiona E.M Argyle

Mayor, City of Nedlands

Author Talk @ Nedlands Library: When Crime Gets Tricky

Readers can't get enough of crime fiction and true crime. Writers can't either, it seems. But how far should a writer go when exploring crime and criminal law? Is there anything that might better be sidestepped or completely avoided?

On Friday 28 June, 6pm, join authors Suzanne Leal, Katherine Johnson and Paddy O'Reilly in a spirited conversation about what to do when crime gets tricky.

Presented by Nedlands Library in conjunction with BAD Sydney Crime Writers Festival and with thanks to Sisters in Crime Perth.

Open Book will have a pop-up bookshop featuring works penned by the authors at this event.
