The Wildflowers set to entertain at first Summer Concert 2016

Four gifted musicians who play an impressive catalogue of contemporary jazz-inspired pop will kick off the 2016 Summer Concert season at Lawler Park in Floreat from 5:30pm on Sunday 7 February.

The Wildflowers are a collaboration between seasoned WA performers Sherri Murphy, Kat Kinley, Mike Hagerty and Travis Bryant. They have created a polished sound and play an impressive catalogue of songs across a wide variety of styles and genres.

Now in its 19th year, the summer concert series is now a well-established community event. Perfect for all ages, they showcase a local Perth band each week, and there's loads of free fun activities for children including a bouncy castle, fairies, face painting and more.

“At the Summer Concerts, family, friends and neighbours can come together, have a picnic in a relaxed environment, enjoy some high calibre entertainment, all in our beautiful our parks,” said City of Nedlands Mayor Max Hipkins.
